Father Sullivan Feted Prior To Departure

On Monday, 20th April, at the Opera House, Raymond, the congregations of Raymond, Magrath and Wretham, held a farewell party for Father Sullivan and his mother Mrs. Sullivan, who are leaving the Parish on or about 28th April for Calgary. In appreciation for the fine work they have done, presentations were made to them by the three parishes, the Catholic Youth Organization, Holy Name Society, and the Ladies Organizations.

An excellent concert was provided as well as a delightful lunch. Visitors came from Picture Butte, and Lethbridge, and some 300 church members.

We extend to Father Sullivan and his mother, very best wishes in his new Parish, and we hope he will be able to take time to visit us once in a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jensen were hosts to their Sunday evening Study Class recently at which Evan Jensen presented the interesting lesson, after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Athol Cooper were hosts to a number of friends when they all enjoyed an evening of Rook after the delightful lunch was served.

The Alma Sommerfeldts, Arch Terrys, Orrin Turners, Gerry Gibbs, Milo Vances, Rex Meeks, Ken Stones and the Coopers joined in the fun and the Stones won High while the Meeks won the Consolation.

What Happened At Council Meeting

L. Bosman was represented by letter, J. D. Hall personally, Harold McBride personally, M. D. Sugar City by D. Holaday, H. D. Rolfson personally and Eva Terry by Mrs. Rex Meeks the others were not represented.

The regular meeting of the Council was held at the Town Hall at 8 p.m. Those present were Mayor Taylor and Councillors Wilde, Ralph, Melchin, Salmon, Kenney and Galbraith.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted on motion of Councillor Melchin.

The cash statement was read and accepted on motion of Councillor Ralph.

Councillor Melchin moved that four street lights be installed at the points recommended in previous meeting.

Councillor Kenney reported that he had checked the street lights on and found 39 on and 2 off—as it appeared that the town was paying for 41 lights he was to check with Calgary Power the location of all lights.

Application of Williams brothers for a Dairy license was again taken up. Moved by Councillor Melchin that the Town license milk distributors (as defined in the dairy regulations) the motion was lost.

Raymond Jensen met the council asking that a water service be provided for his new residence in block 177. He suggested that he would be willing to cooperate in the cost. Moved by Councillor Salmon, that the Waterworks committee investigate the cost and study some proposition with Mr. Jensen and submit it to the Council.

A letter of Mr. Virtue representing the Knight Sugar Company was read. Councillor Melchin moved that Councillor Wilde with the Mayor and Secretary further investigate the circumstances leading up to using this site. Carried.

At the parade of the Air Cadets on Monday night a presentation was made to F.O. Bob Zobell who has been C.O. of the local Squadron since its formation and who is largely responsible for its existence. The reason for the presentation was that Bob is leaving the Squadron to join the R.C.A.F. The best wishes of the Air Cadets go with Mr. Zobell.

The new Commanding Officer of the Squadron in Flying Officer Bill Mehew with Gordon Stone as adjutant; Ken Shaw, Supply Officer; Dr. Harlan Taylor, M.O.; John Housely, First Aid; Charles Hippard, Drill; Johnny Bohme, P.T.; Merlin Peterson, Air Engine Instructor; Junior Meldrum, Projectionist; Father Sullivan, Bruce Galbraith and Rev. The officers of the local Squadron were commissioned at the parade on Monday night by Flt. Lt. Ferguson, F.O. Pearson, W.O. Anderson and Sgt. Kram, Air Cadet Liaison Officers, who were here from Edmonton and Clareholm for the ceremony.

Considerable discussion was held concerning the Summer Camp at Abbotsford, B. C. to be held August 2 to August 16. Only a limited number of Cadets can be accommodated so those earning the most credits will be the lucky ones. To go to Abbotsford a Cadet must be fourteen years old by January 31, 1953.

A bottle collecting campaign is one of the Cadets projects for the year. The three cadets collecting the most bottles will be given an extra trip when the next flight is arranged.

A lovely lunch was served by the hostess at the conclusion of the afternoon.

Once again the local fire fighters proved their efficiency when the alarm sounded at 8:15 Tuesday morning. Within four minutes the fire truck and volunteers were at work extinguishing the fire in a chicken coop belonging to Walter Clifton—five blocks in less than four minutes! It is believed that an overheated brooder caused the fire. All of the chicks were recovered and the damage to the building was not serious.

Mrs. David Court has received word from her mother, Mrs. Myra Hannah, that she is presently enjoying a visit with a son Robert in Burley, Idaho.

The Primary Officers and Teachers of the Fourth Ward met at the home of Mrs. Gertie Fairbanks Tuesday evening to hear the lesson prepared by Mrs. Ruth Nalder and the Conference Report by Mrs. Marguerite Anderson.

Mrs. Laura Atwood and Mrs. Anderson were joint hostesses.

He will spend a few days sightseeing on the continent with a former missionary companion before sailing for England where they will attend the Coronation. He expects to be home on June 15th.

A fly swatter for use inside a car is among the latest items described in The Financial Post. It is a small, handle with flexible heavy rubber blade so it won't hurt car's inside.

Covers were laid for thirty at a dinner party last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Card with Bingo and Rook being played after the delicious meal. For the men, Paul Redd won the high honors and Lee Brewerton won the prize for low score while Mrs. Grace Allen won high and Mrs. Mildred Wood won low prize for the ladies. Mr. and Mrs. Lindy Smith entertained a few friends at a party Saturday evening when Bingo and Court Whist were played by the Ralph Walkers, Jim McMabons, Willard Paxmans and Alan Jensens. The prize for High Score at Whist went to Alan and Hazel Paxman received the Consolation Prize.

A delectable lunch concluded a wonderful evening.

Jazelle Meeks And Lloyd Ralph Wed

White lacy streamers, big baskets of daffodils and pussy willows and an enlarged drawing of lovebirds made the lovely setting for the double ring ceremony that united in marriage Jazelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Meeks, and Lloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mutt Ralph. The radiant bride entered the Relief Society Room on the arm of her father, as the Wedding March was played by Rol Stone, Bishop Snow officiated in the presence of the immediate family, after which Grace Selman sang "At Dawning" during the signing of the Register.

A ballerina length gown of white lace and tulle was chosen by the bride, as well as white satin slippers and a shoulder length veil of tulle which fell from a lace cap trimmed with pearls. She carried a beautiful bouquet of tallisman roses.

Maid of Honor was Geraldine Kenney, wearing a ballerina length gown of frosted yellow nylon and carrying a bouquet of lavender iris and yellow carnations, while Matron of Honor was Yvonne Dahl, the bride's sister, who wore a ballerina length gown of blue net with matching blue taffeta ballers. Her bouquet was of pink carnations and yellow daffodils. A ballerina length coral gown with a taffeta ballers was worn by bridesmaid LaDean McBride, who carried a yellow and white carnation bouquet.

Flower Girls were Theodora Meeks and Marilyn Ralph in ballerina length gowns of shrimp and mauve respectively, carrying nosegays of yellow daffodils centered with a pink rose; and pink carnations with a yellow rose centre.

The Groom's attendants were Gordon Heggie as Best Man and Monte Dahl and Robert Thorson as Ushers.

Mrs. Meeks chose for her daughter's wedding a dusky rose frock complimented by a corsage of pink roses, while the groom's mother wore a purple frock complimented by yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kenney welcomed the guests when immediately following the wedding, a Reception was held at which many friends called to extend their best wishes to the happy young couple. Colleen Thorson was in charge of the Bride's Book while Dawn Mendenhall presided at the Gift Book with Barbara Fairbanks, Arlene Taylor and Karen McLean arranged the gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Galbraith acted as hosts while LaVerne and Lavon Robinson and Jean and Joan Holmes served the delightful lunch. The bride's table was graced with a three tiered wedding cake which was flanked by two dark red rosebuds in a crystal vase.

An entertaining program was enjoyed with Dean Rolfson as Master of Ceremonies for the following numbers: a vocal solo by Grace Selman followed by a Reading by Lynne Galbraith, after which Bernyse and Larry Dahl rendered a musical selection. Mrs. Em Redd's Reading was followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. Nora Stone, a Reading by Karen McLean and a duet by Dawn Mendenhall and Margaret Stone.

The toast to the bride was offered by Lorin Mendenhall with the Groom responding. Bishop Rolon Dahl closed with prayer.

For their honeymoon trip to Great Falls Mrs. Ralph chose a grey and pink check suit with grey and pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The newly-weds will make their home in the house now occupied by Raymond Jensen.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Mendenhall had as their dinner guests on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rhea and children of Macleod, Mrs. Katie Wilde and Mildred of Welling, Dawn Mendenhall of Lethbridge and Nadine Meldrum, in honor of Lorne's homecoming.

The gifts for the Hospital Grab Bag were also collected during the evening.

Rotarians Hear Talk On Hard-Surfacing Of W-C Road

At their regular noon meeting on Monday the Rotarians were pleased to hear a talk on the hardsurfacing of the Welling-Craddock road by Ernie Sparks, government technician who is conducting a survey on conditions of the entire road. An explanation of how standards are set and what is necessary for a road to be paved were told by Mr. Sparks who answered the numerous questions put by the Rotarians.

Speaking as an individual, not a government spokesman, Mr. Sparks said that as far as his investigation had progressed he was inclined to believe that the road was ready for base coat—nothing definite but it sure raises hopes.

The Trio Win Talent Hunt

Congratulations to the Trio! We add our congratulations to the many already received by Gen Hawkins, Laura Watson and Velma Bigelow on their placing first in the vocal section of Beny's Talent Hunt.

Although Gen and Laura have been singing together for a number of years Velma joined with them about a year ago to form "The Trio". Since that time they have pleased many and audience with their beautiful singing. Last December they entered the Talent Hunt and won the first competition. They also won the semi-finals on April 2nd and were awarded a cheque for $100 by Doug Shackelford three weeks later for winning the finals. In their initial performance they sang "Poor Butterfly" and on the semi-final program they chose "One Day When We Were Young". By request they sang "Poor Butterfly" for the finals.

Credit also goes to Mrs. Emma Dahl for the part she played in The Trio coming out on top. She spent many hour coaching the girls as well as accompanying them.

Congratulations also go to Patricia Strong for her achievement of placing third in the instrumental section of the Talent Hunt.

HAVE YOU ORDERED YOUR CHICKS?

If you have not yet ordered your chicks for this season, do so at once and avoid disappointment. Chicks may be in short supply. Buy day old chicks, advises F. J. Higginson, Acting Poultry Commissioner, Alberta Department of Agriculture. They are cheaper, the disease hazard is greatly reduced and the chicks are generally more satisfactory.

Watch the brooder house temperature carefully, warns Mr. Higginson. Too warm or too cool can be equally disastrous. The inside of the brooder house need not be over 65 degrees, but be sure you have heat where it's needed. Under the brooder canopy, the temperature should be 95 degrees for the first week and can then be reduced 5 degrees a week until heat is no longer required.

Feed a good chick starter for the first six or eight weeks, and provide plenty of feeding and watering space. The first few weeks of a chick's life are perhaps the most important, says Mr. Higginson. During that period the foundation is laid for normal growth and later for egg production. By following these recommendations you give your chicks a good start and a chance to grow into profitable producers.

BRITISH SEED GIFT TO CANADA

Some 50 farms in British Columbia and a number in the Maritimes will receive several tons of certified grass and clover seed from Britain this spring for comparisons with grasses already in use. B.C. and the Maritimes were chosen because they have climate conditions similar to Britain. The seed will be supplied free by British growers through the National Farmer's Union. The N.F.U. is looking to a larger demand in Canada and the United States for British seeds following an outstanding success at last November's Toronto Winter Fair where the British seed industry won 91 awards with 161 entries. Value of seed exports to North America last year totalled £500,000 ($1.4 million), most of the seed going to Canada.

EDMONTON - About 50 per cent of the large flow of immigrants to Alberta newcomers in the province's towns and in the past few years has been composed of agriculture workers and persons bound for towns and villages throughout the province, according to federal immigration officials.

The movement for this year is just beginning. So far two boat loads have docked in Eastern Canada.

"Of course, despite the number who come to this country as agricultural workers, there is actually no way of telling how many stay on the farms," one official said.

Although they begin their new life in this country on the farm, he pointed out, many answer the call of industry and the lure of the larger cities. This holds true in Alberta, as well as the eastern provinces (Ontario and Quebec receive most of the immigrants).

With many large and small industries being developed in this province, immigrants who start out as farm workers are lured away by the higher wages offered by the oil industry and the construction companies engaged in building industrial plants and defence establishments.

Most of these destined for Alberta's farms are from Western European countries, other than Great Britain. And of this group, the majority is from Holland.

Officials said there is no way of forecasting the number of immigrants who will come to the province this year; the number from Holland is expected to be about the same as in 1952, when the total was somewhat more than 2,500 persons.

A fair number of immigrants find their first homes in Alberta's towns and villages, rather than on the farm. They are usually "sponsored" by relatives or friends living in the centre to which they go. Here again there is a tendency for subsequent movement to larger centres.

The reason seems to be that they hear more about the opportunities in the cities. An immigration official said that in his opinion there actually are more opportunities available for immigrants in the smaller settlements although there often is the problem of accommodation.

"Anything that can be done to encourage settlement of the country's newcomers in the province's towns and villages, certainly will be welcome," he added.

Things that immigrants coming to Alberta farms find amazing are the immensity of the holdings and the modern machinery. New types of machinery are only beginning to become available on the relatively small farms in Europe.

Considerable confusion existed at the week ended with the announcement that most of the 46 nations participating the International Wheat Agreement had agreed to a maximum price of $2.05 a bushel for wheat. Fly in the ointment was that Great Britain signified it was not willing to pay more than $2.

The significance of the agreement, particularly from the Canadian farmer's point of view, was greatly reduced, observers felt, if Britain could not be persuaded to accept the $2.05. After all, Britain is expected to take some 40 per cent of Canada's wheat export this year and has always been this country's main market.

The $2.05 is an increase from the former agreement setting a price of $1.80 as top. New floor price was set at $1.55, which farm leaders in Alberta felt was too low. The present is $1.20.

Social activities at the University of Alberta have come to a standstill. Reason: Students have buried their noses in their books. They are burning the midnight oil in preparation for their final examinations, which begin for most students this week.

Public health students and first and second year engineering students already have written their exams, but the majority will not finish until about April 27, depending on their course of studies.

University officials said that a total of 19,673 individual exam papers will be written on 533 examination subjects. In a few subjects only one student will write an examination. Largest number will be 511 in one of the chemistry courses.

For graduating students the culmination of their efforts at university will be summed up at spring convocation, May 14.

EDMONTON - If you live within 60 miles of Edmonton or Calgary, chances are you will be able to receive television broadcasts in the not too distant future. But for person living beyond this range it looks as if it will be at least 10 years before they will have to consider buying a TV set.

That is the opinion of one Edmonton broadcaster. He emphasized that he was only estimating, for there is nothing on which to base an absolutely dependable forecast. Edmonton and Calgary radio interests have placed applications for TV licenses before the CBC board of governors and a hearing is expected next month.

There is slight possibility of TV reception of up to 100 miles, when the first stations are operating in the two centres. But it would require sky-scraping aerials and then the signal probably would be too weak to warrant owning a set - if you have the electrical power with which to operate it.

Citizens of the towns and villages within the 60-mile radius and those on electrically-equipped farms will be the lucky ones to start with - lucky depending on your views on television.

The farther you are from the transmitting station the higher your antenna will have to be. The terrain of the country between you and the transmitter also will have to be considered when the time comes for you to consider buying a set.

What about the many citizens living outside the limited circle around Edmonton and Calgary?

Their prospects of having TV reception lie not in the erection of separate transmitters, but in the establishment of networks of repeater stations. This looks as if it will be costly.

A repeater station will have to be set up about every 50 miles and presumably persons within a 50-mile radius of such a station would have fairly good reception. The signals are sent from the transmitter and picked up and transmitted from repeater station to repeater station.

Considerable interest is being shown in a proposal to establish a crop insurance for the wheat-growing areas of Canada, J. A. McPhee, superintendent of insurance for the provincial government, said last week.

The proposal recently was discussed at a meeting of the Drumheller District Agriculture Society and is being investigated by the crop insurance committee of the organization. Mr. McPhee said he will be seeking further information on the details of the plan and possibly will investigate crop insurance schemes in the U.S.

Apparently such plans are in operation in some parts of the states. Montana was mentioned at the Drumheller meeting and Mr. McPhee said there is a scheme in North Dakota which covers crop losses by fire as well as hail, and also against the expense of picking up crops beaten down by hail.

How far the society's plan would go is not clear, although one report indicated it wanted coverage against the loss of wheat crops from any cause. This would cover a lot of territory in catastrophes and acts of God, such as drought, wind damage, pestilence and blights of one kind and another.

At the present time in Alberta crops can be insured only against possible hail damage.

Private insurance companies, now in hail insurance, would require charter and bylaw amendments to set up further crop insurance.

Premiums would be high, at least at the start, for there are no readily available statistics on the frequency of these catastrophes and the amount of crop damage that could be expected. It was suggested that it might be a field where government assistance would be required. Crop loss through drought already comes under the Prairie Farmers' Assistance Act. There would also be the difficulty of placing a fair valuation, or even a minimum, on a crop, due to the continual price fluctuations.

Interest in the next federal election, expected to be called for a date towards the end of summer, is gaining momentum. A total of 40 candidates has been nominated, at least one of each of Alberta's 17 constituencies. Up to the week-end the breakdown was: Liberals, 11; Progressive Conservative, 4; Social Credit, 8; CCF, 9, and Labour-Progressive, 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Adamson of Rosemary and Gladys Garner of Calgary enjoyed a visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Garner over the week-end. On Sunday a get-together was enjoyed with the whole family at the Garner home.

A Sunday evening Study Class met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Hamilton this week at which time they enjoyed hearing the recording of several Sermons delivered in Salt Lake. Chatting and lunch was enjoyed during the remainder of the evening.

An Open Letter to the Citizens of Raymond

Since taking over the dairy business here from Alma on August 1st, 1952, we have endeavored to give satisfactory service to the milk users of our town. To the best of our knowledge we have done so.

At the present time the situation here is such that we find it extremely difficult to justify the continuance of our milk delivery. We have been offered a very good price for our milk elsewhere and unless we are given some protection by the Town Council with regard to people selling milk we feel that we must accept this proposition.

For your protection our dairy and milk is inspected regularly by a Provincial Inspector, and all we ask is that we be given the protection of a Town of Raymond Dairy License.

SEWING COURSE

The Fort Macleod Country Beavers held a one day sewing course in their South Macleod Community Hall recently. Fourteen ladies attended bringing sewing machines with them to sew samples and to work on their own garment problems.

The Conquerville Women's Institute held a similar sewing course for two days in their school Home Economics class room.

These courses are held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Much of the time is spent upon such items as choosing fabrics and patterns, getting a good fit and making alterations, preparing the fabric by preshrinking and straightening, and sewing tools and techniques.

HOW LONG WILL IT KEEP?

How long do you keep foods in the refrigerator and still keep their good quality? Keeping quality of a perishable will depend on its condition, and also on the temperature and humidity of the refrigerator. Wrapping foods correctly and keeping them at the right temperature can affect their storage life. The center storage section of a refrigerator is normally 38 degrees F. to 42 degrees F. The area just below the freezing unit is colder for storage of meats, poultry and fish.

The bottom of the refrigerator is warmer and better for vegetables.

The atmosphere of the refrigerator is very dry unless you have a cold-wall type. Refrigerated food that tends to dry and shrivel should be kept covered to retard evaporation.

Here is a table from the U.S. Department of Agriculture showing storage conditions and how long some perishable foods are likely to hold good quality if quite fresh when refrigerated:

Milk; keep below 45 degrees F. Use within 3 days for best quality. Soft cheese; keep in closed container in coldest part of refrigerator. Will keep approximately 1 to 2 weeks. Fresh meat, fresh meat cuts, ground meat, liver, variety meats; store loosely wrapped at 30 degrees F. Storage time for pork cuts somewhat shorter than for other meat cuts. Use ground meat in 1 day, variety meats in 2 days, fresh meat cuts in 3 to 6 days. Cold cuts, sliced; wrap in semi moisture proof material, such as waxed paper, and store at 30 degrees F. Use within 6 days for best quality. Fresh fish; store loosely wrapped, at 32 degrees F. Use within 1 day for best quality.

If you prepare food for large crowds in your community, perhaps some quantity recipes would be useful. Next week I'll have some for you.

The members of the Book Lovers Score were guests at the home of Mrs. Vanda Grey Friday afternoon at which time they enjoyed the book reviewed by Mrs. Connie Grant who chose "Glant" by Edna Ferber. This book, which is causing a great deal of controversy in the U.S. at this time, deals with Texas and the disgraceful manner in which the Mexicans are treated by the Texans.

During the afternoon plans were made for the items to be donated to the Hospital Auxiliary, after which a delectable lunch was served.

Mrs. Mildred Wood was a special guest.

CANADIAN GARDEN SERVICE
by Gordon Lindsay Smith

No Substitute - Of course if one wants to put a price on the hours spent pleasantly in the sunshine. It might be cheaper to buy some vegetables at the corner store. But there is one thing that one cannot buy at any store and that is the freshness, crispness and tenderness that comes only with vegetables grown properly, and grown right at the kitchen door.

How do we get this top quality? There is no secret about that. First, we use the best seed and of varieties specially recommended for Canadian conditions. Then we must grow quickly. If there is any real check to these vegetables of which leaves or roots are eaten they are liable to become woody or tough. Essentials of quick growth are sunshine, a little stimulating chemical fertilizer, regular cultivation, thinning if necessary and watering. And there is something else, which is most important.

Every vegetable comes to a stage when its at the peak of its quality, and then passes beyond. With some things like green beans, peas and corn, this peak is quickly over. One day the vegetables are crisp, tender and sweet. A few days later they begin to get tough. If one plants all the seed at the same time and of the same variety, then that peak is over or the whole season in a very short time. The proper way is to spread out the sowings and thus spread out the harvest. We spread the season still further by using early and late maturing varieties.

Garden Paths - With a minimum of planning and care, paths can be made to add interest and beauty to any garden, even in the vegetable patch. Where traffic is heavy such as near the door or a gate, it is advisable to use some solid material like flagstone, concrete slabs, bricks, cinder or gravel. With any of these the main thing is to place firmly and level with the surrounding grass, so that the lawn mower will trim or better still run right over. Where the traffic is lighter, one can simply use grass. It is surprising the amount of wear well grown and well nourished grass will stand. In lots of public gardens grass paths are used to divide the flower plots and they are seldom worn thin. Where cinder or gravel is used in paths or driveways one can eliminate grass and weeds by sprinkling heavily with rock salt or treating with some of the weed sprays.

Keep It Clear - It is so much easier to cultivate and maintain a vegetable garden where annual and permanent things are kept separated. To look after a piece of soil all cluttered up with fruit trees, grapevines, rows of asparagus, rhubarb, currants or raspberries and other things that stay in the same place for years, is like trying to paint a room without taking out the furniture or pictures. Even in the flower gardens it will make things easier where annuals and perennials are kept fairly well apart. When the space is free one can cultivate or dig thoroughly in fall or spring and also in the vegetable garden particularly sow special green manure crops like oats, fall rye or clover which is later dug under and thus enriches the soil.

Usually with a little planning we can place the permanent things, at one side of the vegetable garden, or along an end or corner. Fruit trees, and fruit bushes should certainly be placed there. With centre clear then we don't need to worry when the man comes with the tractor to plow the garden.

UNBREAKABLE BOWLS. Mixing bowls, made of 'squeeze bottle plastic' are unbreakable and can be used for hand or electric mixing. A handle, formed to fit the hand when the bowl is in the natural mixing position, decreases the chance of slipping or spilling and a sharply pointed lip makes pouring easier. Item comes in three colors and sizes.

DESIGN - OF - THE - MONTH - Although this three-bedroom bungalow falls within the classification of a 'small house', careful planning has given it an air of spaciousness.

The full-length windows in the front wall of the living room are an architectural feature which enhances the exterior appearance and ensures sufficient natural light for the main living section of the house.

Plenty of sunshine and fresh air reach the front bedrooms which have three windows each and the third bedroom, at the rear, has a double window.

Designed by the architectural firm of Wilson and Newton, Toronto, the house is of brick veneer construction with wood siding on the gable ends of the roof. The floor area is 983 square feet and the cubic measure is 18,435 cubic feet. The exterior dimensions are 40 feet by 24 feet seven inches.

Working drawings for this plan, known as Design 214, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.
